

PROJECT
Harmony

Circle of Grace stresses the importance of not only inappropriate and appropriate behavior but also about boundaries and paying attention to what makes a child feel uncomfortable. Discussing the feelings that are associated with uncomfortable situations can be a great prevention measure when children are put in unsafe situations. Circle of Grace teaches children to trust their feelings and reinforces that it's okay to let a trusted adult know when you feel unsafe. As someone who talks to children about unsafe situations, it's great to hear children say that they told their trusted adult because someone entered "my circle of grace and it made me feel uncomfortable."
